

UGS 2230 & 2235: GLOBAL CIT ONLINE

HF, BF, and gateway to the Global Citizenship Minor

Global Citizenship Online (GCO) helps you fully engage your political and environmental passion to produce social change. After this course, with 6 credits under your belt, you will have earned a tool belt that includes clearer writing, stronger self-expression, and above all a sense of what really matters to you. This virtual pedagogical environment is designed so you feel connected—to me and to each other. We interact through academic and social media, learn about each other, and find alliances around big questions. As a group of people connected virtually we think together about the work of citizenship in a complex global world. In fall, we read/hear/watch major thinkers and activists on human rights and sustainability. In spring we turn thought into action in Salt Lake City. Over the year, you collaboratively design and implement a project in social/environmental justice and learn skills that make you a 21st-century citizen: writing persuasively, problem-solving, and intellectual teamwork. The planet needs you. Join us!

s

Do you wonder about your footprint on the planet and on society?

Do you think about the environment with no
sense of what to do?

Does the idea of human rights concern you, yet
leave you feeling small?

Do you plan to have impact in our diverse and troubled world?

Join GCO's maiden
voyage!

DR. CHRISTINE JONES

[christine.a.jones
@utah.edu](mailto:christine.a.jones@utah.edu)

801-585-3002

THE UNIVERSITY OF UTAH