GIVEN THE COMPRESSED SCHEDULE FOR THIS COURSE, I WILL NOT HAVE SCHEDULED OFFICE HOURS. I WILL BE AVAILABLE FOR QUESTIONS EITHER BY EMAIL OR BEFORE/AFTER CLASS.

COURSE OVERVIEW

THIS COURSE IS DESIGNED TO BE A BROAD SURVEY OF AMERICAN GOVERNMENT AND POLITICS. WE WILL EXPLORE THE IDEOLOGICAL AND CULTURAL FOUNDATIONS OF THE AMERICAN POLITICAL SYSTEM, THE INSTITUTIONS THAT MAKE UP OUR GOVERNMENT, AND FINALLY, HOW INDIVIDUALS, PARTIES AND INTEREST GROUPS INFLUENCE GOVERNMENT. YOU SHOULD EMERGE FROM THIS CLASS NOT ONLY WITH AN UNDERSTANDING OF HOW GOVERNMENT FUNCTIONS AND THE PROCESSES BY WHICH POLICY IS MADE, BUT ALSO WITH A MORE NUANCED OPINION OF THE AMERICAN POLITICAL SYSTEM.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

By the end of the course, you should be able:

| <ul style="list-style-type: none">• To understand the nature, scope, and history of American Government and politics. |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none">• To understand the ideological and cultural foundations of the American political system, and the institutions that make up our government. |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none">• To understand how individuals, parties, and interest groups influence government. |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none">• To emerge from this class not only with an understanding of how government functions and the processes by which policy is made, but also with a more nuanced opinion of the American political system. |

REQUIRED COURSE MATERIALS:

TEXTBOOK:

James Morone and Rogan Kersh, By the People: Debating American Government, Third Edition¹ (ISBN# 978-1531101299)

This book is required and the primary text for this class.¹**

Some days may have supplemental readings, which have been made available on this syllabus via embedded links.

¹ I am using this version of the text for this class in an effort to try to reduce costs for the students. There are many hardcover American government texts on the market that are extremely expensive. I'm hoping this option will help you devote more of your financial resources to other aspects of your life.

ABOUT THIS INTENSIVE SHORT COURSE:

Because this is an intensive, week long course, your ability to be self-motivated and participate will be critical to your ability to be successful in the class.

Accommodation Notice:

The University of Utah seeks to provide equal access to its programs, services, and activities for people with disabilities. If you will need accommodations in this class, reasonable prior notice needs to be given to the Center for Disability Services, 162 Olpin Union Building, (801) 581-5020 (V/TDD). CDS will work with you and the instructor to make arrangements for accommodations.

Note: This syllabus is meant to serve as an outline and guide for our course. Please note that I may modify it with reasonable notice to you. I may also modify the Course Schedule to accommodate the needs of our class. Any change will be announced in class and posted on CANVAS under Announcements.

Teaching & Learning Methods:

Class Participation (10%):

Active participation – whether through comments, listening, or note taking – is expected of all students. Civility and respect are essential to class discussions – comments and critiques should be focused on the material, not the person.

Although I hope classroom discussion fosters a healthy and vigorous debate between students, I will request decorum if discussion is unreasonably derogatory towards another student. Otherwise, classroom discussion will be fair game. In short, don't refrain from engaging each other, but please make every effort to be respectful.

Students must attend all five days of class and arrive on time each day. Failing to attend all five days will result in automatic failure. Upon completion of the course, students who were on time and participated each day will receive a total of ten (10) points.

Daily Quizzes (40%):

There are 4 quizzes that will be administered at the end of each of the first four days of class (Monday, October 7th through Thursday, October 10th). Each quiz will be comprehensive of the day's readings and lecture and has 10 questions (multiple choice and true or false, and several short answer questions) designed to test students' understanding of key concepts and definitions for a total of ten (10) possible points per quiz.

Final Exam – Simulation & Written (50%):

The final day of class (Friday, October 11th) will involve two components – the first will be a classroom simulation and the second will be a written exam. Both components of the final exam must be taken in order to receive any credit for the final exam. That is to say, failing to engage in both components of the final exam will result in an automatic failure.

Component 1:

The first component of the exam will be an in-class simulation designed to apply course concepts regarding how government functions and stimulate critical thought and reflection. This will take the majority of class time, and willingness to participate fully in this simulation is an absolute requirement for taking this course. More information regarding the in-class simulation will be given in-class on Thursday, October 10th.

Component 2:

The second component, a written exam, will be comprehensive, drawing on material from lectures and readings covered over the course of the class. It will be administered at the end of class. The written exam will have 25 questions (multiple choice and true or false, and several short answer questions) designed to test students' understanding of key concepts and definitions for a total of twenty-five (25) possible points. Many of the multiple-choice questions will be taken from the quizzes taken thus far. The short-answer questions will focus on your ability to apply the principles and concepts that you have learned. You will have two hours to complete the written exam once you start it. The written exam is open book and will include several extra credit questions. This being said, no collaboration is allowed on the written exam component.

THERE IS NO MAKE-UP OPTION FOR CLASS PARTICIPATION, QUIZZES OR THE FINAL EXAM.

Grading Policy (Evaluation Methods & Criteria):

Grading is based on a standard point system, calculating final grades by dividing the number of points earned by the total number of points possible. This course is worth 100 points.

A	93-100%	B+	88-89%	C+	78-79%	D+	68-69%
A-	90-92%	B	83-87%	C	73-77%	D	63-67%
		B-	80-82%	C-	70-72%	D-	60-62%
						E	<60%

The course assignments and their value in terms of the final grade break down are as follows:

Class Participation:	10%
Quizzes:	40%
Final Exam:	50%

University Policies:

Academic Code of Integrity: The University of Utah states that “Academic misconduct” includes, but is not limited to, cheating, misrepresenting one's work, inappropriately collaborating, plagiarism, and fabrication or falsification of information, as defined further below. It also includes facilitating academic misconduct by intentionally helping or attempting to help another to commit an act of academic misconduct.” See: <http://regulations.utah.edu/academics/6-400.php>

Disrupting class or discussions and/or threatening fellow students are forms of misconduct (academic or non-academic). Depending on the circumstances, cases of misconduct may also be prosecuted at the college-level and could result in a failing grade for the course or suspension for a second occurrence. If you have any questions regarding what constitutes academic misconduct, please talk with me.

Communication: Your official university email address and the course Canvas page will be used for important course-related communication. To avoid missing official information, please talk with me. It is your responsibility to make sure the instructor (Seth) has your correct email address.

Addressing Sexual Misconduct:

Title IX makes it clear that violence and harassment based on sex and gender (which includes sexual orientation and gender identity/expressions) is a civil rights offense subject to the same kinds of accountability and the same kinds of support applied to offenses against other protected categories such as race, national origin, color, religion, age, status as a person with a disability, veteran's status or genetic information. If you or someone you know has been harassed or assaulted, you are encouraged to report it to the Title IX Coordinator in the office of Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action, 135 Park Building, 801-581-8365, or the Office of the Dean of Students, 270 Union Building, 801-581-7066. For support and confidential consultation, contact the Center for Student Wellness, 426 SSB, 801-581-7776. To report to the police, contact the Department of Public Safety, 801-585-2677 (COPS).

Wellness Statement

Personal concerns such as stress, anxiety, relationship difficulties, depression, cross-cultural differences, etc., can interfere with a student's ability to succeed and thrive at the University of Utah. For helpful resources contact the Center for Student Wellness - www.wellness.utah.edu; 801-581-7776.

The Americans with Disabilities Act:

The University of Utah seeks to provide equal access to its programs, services and activities for people with disabilities. If you will need accommodations in the class, reasonable prior notice needs to be given to the Center for Disability Services, 162 Olpin Union Building, 581-5020 (V/TDD). CDS will work with you and the instructor to make arrangements for accommodations. All information in this course can be made available in alternative format with prior notification to the Center for Disability Services. (www.hr.utah.edu/oeo/ada/guide/faculty/)
