Introduction to Philosophy:

Ethical Dilemmas in the Contemporary World

MWF 9:40 am – 10:30 am

CTIHB 101

Professor: C. Thi Nguyen c.thi.nguyen@utah.edu

TA: Hector Ortiz hector.ortiz@utah.edu

Office Hours: CTIHB 461, Monday 11:45 PM - 12:45 PM and by appointment

This class will introduce you to some classical and contemporary ideas from philosophy and ethics, by looking at contemporary ethical dilemmas. We'll be looking at all sorts of ethical dilemmas, from the ethics of sports doping, to whether online friendships are real, to questions about whether a technology can be racist or sexist, to a philosophical inquiry into the concept of "bullshit". Through these topics, we'll explore some larger philosophical themes: what is a good life? What activities are valuable and meaningful? What do we owe to each other?

Course materials:

All readings will be available online.

Grading and assignments

Short exams (4) 60%

Final exam 30%

The exams will be written exams that will ask you to explain theories from the class, often to novel situations. You'll be expected to be able to present arguments clearly and come up with your own applications, criticisms, and synthesis. We will practice all these skills in class.

University of Utah Policies

(What follows are university-wide policies for the University of Utah)

Americans With Disabilities Act (ADA)

The University of Utah seeks to provide equal access to its programs, services, and activities for people with disabilities.

All written information in this course can be made available in an alternative format with prior notification to the Center for Disability & Access (CDA). CDA will work with you and the instructor to make arrangements for accommodations. Prior notice is appreciated. To read the full accommodations policy for the University of Utah, please see Section Q of the Instruction & Evaluation regulations.

In compliance with ADA requirements, some students may need to record course content. Any recordings of course content are for personal use only, should not be shared, and should never be made publicly available. In addition, recordings must be destroyed at the conclusion of the course.

Addressing Sexual Misconduct

Title IX makes it clear that violence and harassment based on sex and gender (which includes sexual orientation and gender identity/expression) is a civil rights offense subject to the same kinds of accountability and the same kinds of support applied to offenses against other protected categories such as race, national origin, color, religion, age, status as a person with a disability, veteran's status, or genetic information.

If you or someone you know has been harassed or assaulted, you are encouraged to report it to university officials:

Academic Misconduct

It is expected that students comply with University of Utah policies regarding academic honesty, including but not limited to refraining from cheating, plagiarizing, misrepresenting one's work, and/or inappropriately collaborating. This includes the use of generative artificial intelligence (AI) tools without citation, documentation, or authorization. Students are expected to adhere to the prescribed professional and ethical standards of the profession/discipline for which they are preparing. Any student who engages in academic dishonesty or who violates the professional and ethical standards for their profession/discipline may be subject to academic sanctions as per the University of Utah's Student Code: Policy 6-410: Student Academic Performance, Academic Conduct, and Professional and Ethical Conduct.

Plagiarism and cheating are serious offenses and may be punished by failure on an individual assignment, and/or failure in the course. Academic misconduct, according to the University of Utah Student Code:

"...Includes, but is not limited to, cheating, misrepresenting one's work, inappropriately collaborating, plagiarism, and fabrication or falsification of information...It also includes facilitating academic misconduct by intentionally helping or attempting to help another to commit an act of academic misconduct."

For details on plagiarism and other important course conduct issues, see the U's Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities.
