Course Description

This course is a selective survey of the music of the indigenous peoples of Africa, India, China, Japan, Southeast Asia, Indonesia, Central and South America, and North America. In this course we will examine the ways that music functions within these cultures. We will examine the music itself, the people who make it, the instruments they use, and the complex of ideas, behaviors, and processes that are involved in the production of this music.

Course Outcomes and Objectives

By the end of this course, you will be able to:

- Describe in musical terms your reaction to an acoustic performance of world music.
- Identify and explain political, economic, social, and/or cultural connections between the United States and other communities of the world.
- Identify and explain several pertinent contemporary issues that impact the global community.
- Explain how global awareness will impact your frame of reference in the future.

Course Requirements

- Attendance and participation – 10%
- Homework assignments (HW) – 30%
- Concert Attendance – 10%
- Three exams – 30%
- Term Final Project – 10%

Academic Misconduct

It is expected that students comply with University of Utah policies regarding academic honesty, including but not limited to refraining from cheating, plagiarizing, misrepresenting one's work, and/or inappropriately collaborating. This includes the use of generative artificial intelligence (AI) tools without citation, documentation, or authorization. Students are expected to adhere to the prescribed professional and ethical standards of the profession/discipline for which they are preparing. Any student who engages in academic dishonesty or who violates the professional and ethical standards for their profession/discipline may be subject to academic sanctions as per the University of Utah's Student Code: Policy 6-410: Student Academic Performance, Academic Conduct, and Professional and Ethical Conduct.

Plagiarism and cheating are serious offenses and may be punished by failure on an individual assignment, and/or failure in the course. Academic misconduct, according to the University of Utah Student Code:

"...Includes, but is not limited to, cheating, misrepresenting one's work, inappropriately collaborating, plagiarism, and fabrication or falsification of information...It also includes facilitating academic misconduct by intentionally helping or attempting to help another to commit an act of academic misconduct."

For details on plagiarism and other important course conduct issues, see the U's Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities.
